THE BRITISH COMMUNITY COMMITTEE OF FRANCE

The British Community Committee of France (BCC), founded in 1937 (see page 40), is the umbrella organisation of British associations in France at a national level. It operates under the registered logo britishinfrance and publicises the existence of its member organisations so that British citizens in France, or those with British interests, know whom to contact to join. It co-ordinates the activities of the British in France by collecting information on events being organised by member associations, highlighting potential clashes of dates between events, and communicating the list to members.

The BCC was first registered as a Loi 1901 association on 1 July 1939. It has two categories of members:

- associations throughout France and Monaco with a majority British link, whether charitable, educational, religious, social, sporting, professional, etc.
- up to 21 individual elected members of the British Community who wish to play an active part in the co-ordination and promotion of British Community activities.

Additionally, beginning in 2017, the BCC is a founder member of and an active participant in British in Europe, a coalition of UK citizens' rights groups in various EU27 countries working to alleviate the negative impacts on UK citizens living in EU27 countries of the UK referendum decision on 23 June 2016 for the UK to leave the EU.

The BCC promotes its member organisations and their activities in the following ways:

- Each year in September, it publishes the Directory of Member Organisations, which gives a description of all of its members' activities and their contact details.
- Every month, the Diary Editor collects information on events being organised by member associations and sends out the monthly British Community Diary of Events to inform member organisations and their members about what is happening in the community.
- The BCC's website britishinfrance.com reaches out to the broader on-line community, providing details of all member associations and their activities.
- The BCC holds Quarterly Meetings (usually in January, March or April, June, and September or October), attended by a delegate from each member association, the individual elected members, and the Regional Representatives elected by member associations in the regions.

Any association in France or Monaco with a British link is welcome to apply to join the BCC. Admission is granted to successful applicants following a presentation of the association to a Quarterly Meeting. The membership subscription for 2021-2022 is €20 if paid by 30 April, €30 if paid after 30 April.

The Directory is published with the generous support of its contributors and advertisers to all of whom we express our very grateful thanks. Please mention the British in France Directory when you use their services.

Copies of the latest edition of this publication may be obtained from the British Consulates, the churches and associations, and from the places listed on page 39.

British Embassy Paris

For the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office (FCDO), supporting British nationals overseas continues to be a top priority for our Embassy and Consular teams. COVID-19 has brought us many challenges over the last 18 months and as we learn to live with the virus on a longer term basis, I am pleased to see the solidarity between colleagues, neighbours and friends. International travel continues to see restrictions, sometimes at short notice, and you will always find the latest guidance and information on our Travel Advice: <https://www.gov.uk/foreign-travel-advice/france>.

A major milestone in 2021 has been the deadline for all UK nationals resident in France since before 1 January 2021 to apply for their new Withdrawal Agreement residency permit. We expect that the majority have now applied, but the French authorities are still accepting late applications for residency. When speaking to British citizens in France, please encourage them all to apply for this residency permit as soon as possible, even if they missed the deadline.

Another positive development has been the bilateral agreement on driving licences. In brief, if you have a valid UK licence issued before January 1, 2021, you can drive in France until it expires, at which point you can exchange it for a French licence. If your licence was issued after 1 January 2021, you should exchange it within one year from the date of your residency permit. If your UK licence has expired, or has less than six months' validity remaining, you should apply to exchange it on the Agence Nationale des Titres Sécurisés \(ANTS\) website. Although you won't be able to drive immediately, when your application is accepted, you will receive a document confirming your right to drive, which you can use until your new licence arrives. Full details are on the Living in France Guide: gov.uk/guidance/living-in-france.

The Embassy continues its work to support the British community in France. It has been an honour to be able to contribute to this during my time here and I am personally very grateful for all the contributions from the associations in this directory. My successor, Menna Rawlings – the first female British Ambassador to France, will be in place from September 2021. My very best wishes to you all.

Edward Llewellyn

École Jeannine Manuel is a non-profit pre-K-12 coeducational school founded in 1954 with the mission to promote international understanding through the bilingual education (French / English) of a multicultural community of students, and to foster pedagogical innovation by exploring best practices in an ever-changing global environment.

An associated UNESCO school, École Jeannine Manuel is the largest independent school in France, with 2400 pupils representing 80 nationalities and every major cultural tradition.

Each year, the school welcomes more than 100 new non-French speaking pupils. These students, key to the cultural diversity of the school, are enrolled in an adaptation programme where they receive intensive and immersive French tuition tailored to their individual level.

In eleventh grade, students choose between the French track leading to the international option of the French baccalaureate in the American section (OIB) and the International Baccalaureate Diploma (IB). École Jeannine Manuel ranks at the very top of French schools in terms of exam success rate as well as distinctions received at the Baccalaureate. Admission results to highly selective French institutions and the most demanding universities in the United Kingdom, USA or Canada are consistently excellent.

École Jeannine Manuel has a boarding school in Lille (one hour from Paris by TGV), with the same curriculum as the Paris school, and opened a sister school in London - in the heart of Bloomsbury - in September 2015. Five years after its creation, Ecole Jeannine Manuel London welcomes 500 pupils from nursery through Year 12. Last year, the school opened its Upper School on Russell Square, a few steps away from its Primary and Middle schools.

FDA debates are based on the rules and procedures of the House of Commons. They involve two teams of students from top French grandes écoles and universities who argue a motion in English, alternating between “proposition” and “opposition” speakers who deliver feisty six-minute speeches. Spirited arguments and mutual rebuttals offer space for improvisation and rhetorical amusement to inspire an audience and, above all, convince the members of the jury.

Receiving British TV and radio in France by satellite

For free to air broadcasts from the BBC, ITV, Channel 4 and Channel 5 your satellite dish should be set up to receive the signal from 28.2° East. The further you are from the British Isles, the larger the diameter of the satellite dish you will probably need. In certain locations the signal may not be received at all.

If you live in a copropriété you should consider having a motion placed on the agenda of the Assemblée générale des copropriétaires for permission to install your own private satellite dish - remember, in France everyone has a legal right to a TV aerial (le droit à l'antenne, décret du 22 décembre 1967). If you rent your home, you should ask your landlord to do this for you.

Why not advertise in the next BCC Directory?

Readership of the Directory is extremely wide-ranging, and its geographical distribution mirrors that of the British population living in France, with an emphasis on the Paris, Lyon, Hauts-de-France, Nouvelle Aquitaine and PACA regions. All this makes the BCC Directory a uniquely effective way of reaching British people living in France and who take a deep interest in the life of their community.

The Directory has a life span of one year, and its readers keep it as a reference document for the whole of that period. Your ad's effectiveness will therefore extend over the entire year's life of the Directory and will complement and underline your presence in relatively more short-lived local and other media.

Please contact me to discuss how we can help you.

Applying for a new British passport if you live in France

British citizens living in France MUST apply for their new passport to Her Majesty's Passport Office in the UK (and NO LONGER to a Consular post or Embassy outside the UK, except for Emergency Travel Documents - for these, see gov.uk/emergency-travel-document). An online application service is now available at gov.uk/overseas-passports.

When you make an online application for a passport, you will be asked to create your own application file, indicating the type of passport required and personal details of the passport holder. You will be able to check and edit your application, and the website will show you the total amount to pay online. You may pay by MasterCard, Visa, Visa Electron or Visa Debit card.

Once you have submitted your application online and paid for your passport, the website will create a personalised declaration pack for you to download and print. The declaration pack includes the declaration form for you to read, sign and return to HM Passport Office. Sign the printed declaration form and send it to HM Passport Office at the address indicated. The guidance will tell you what documents you must include, whether or not you require a counter-signatory, and what kind of photos are acceptable.

THE BCC – HOW IT ALL BEGAN

The British Community Committee of France has been the voice of the British in France for over 80 years. The end of the Napoleonic wars in 1815 had made it possible for the British to come back to France to live and to pursue their business interests, and pursue them they did – building railways, running banks, property and insurance companies, and bringing British sports such as football, tennis, horseracing, rowing and even cricket to the people of France. But it was during the period of moroseness following the abdication of King Edward VIII in 1936 that a group of British residents in Paris decided that to cheer themselves up, they should launch a joyous celebration of the Coronation of King George VI in 1937.

The celebration was a great success, restoring the traditional joie de vivre of the British community in France, at the same time marking the birth of the British Colony Committee, as it was then called, the British community's own umbrella organisation representing British organisations, societies and associations.

The British Colony Committee was duly registered as an association loi 1901 on 1 July 1939. After the war, the renaissance of the British Colony Committee was officially registered with the French authorities on 12 August 1947, with its headquarters at the British Chamber of Commerce in the rue Halévy, near the Paris Opéra. Activities had restarted well before this however; the minutes of the AGM of 8 May 1947 record that the outgoing Secretary, a Mr Foster, was replaced by Lilian Bernice Lynch. In January 1948, Mrs Lynch reported to the Préfecture de Police a list of 26 members, eight of whom were elected and the rest representatives of British organisations. They included the Chaplain of St. George's Church, Paris, Fr Neate; the Minister of the Scots Kirk, Paris, the Revd Donald Caskie, the manager of Thomas Cook's travel agency on the place de la Madeleine, Mr Hargreaves, and several prominent lawyers, accountants and engineers working in Paris.

In February 1982, the then Vice-Chairman, Beryl Jones, proposed that the BCC change its name to "British Community Committee". (The words "of France" were added in 2012.) Beryl had arrived in Paris in 1955, with virtually no knowledge of French, and very lonely. Everything changed the day young Beryl spotted a poster for the BCC's Christmas Party, held at 47 avenue Hoche – open to all British citizens living in Paris, and free of charge. Much of the valuable work of member associations of the BCC still lies in welcoming new British residents to France and helping them to assimilate.

Beryl recalls a frustrating December Saturday in 1978 when she vainly tried to visit three English church bazaars, all inconveniently held on the same day because there was no-one to co-ordinate the various social events being organised in Paris by and for the British Community. When she was elected the BCC's first lady Chairman in 1985, her first act was to institute the Social Diary, a list of intended forthcoming events that could be consulted in advance to avoid clashes. It continues to this day as the BCC's British Community Diary of Events, normally published monthly.

MAY 22nd. 1937
SOUVENIR PROGRAMME

Under the Chairmanship of Christopher Mitchell-Heggs, the BCC began to publish The Digest, a booklet describing the activities of the various British institutions, such as the schools, churches, sports clubs and the Consulate. That publication became the BCC's Directory of Member Associations, a copy of which you are now reading. The website was added later.

According to the IPPR's estimates of numbers of passports held by permanent British residents abroad, the British community in France is Britain's fifth-largest expat community, and the second-largest in a non-English-speaking country (after Spain). So it made sense to extend the BCC's coverage to the whole of France and Monaco in 2004. The BCC currently numbers over 100 member organisations, and can elect up to 21 individual members.

Today, the Directory, the Diary of Events and the website enable British enthusiasts of any activity in one part of France to know what is going on in their field of interest in other parts of France, so they can get in touch, make new contacts, or even be inspired to create a "new" activity. It all helps us to remember that we're all part of one big British family in France.

In June 2016, the result of the referendum on the UK's continuing membership of the European Union brought with it a new need to defend the interests of the British in France, and indeed also those of the million-plus UK nationals living throughout the 27 member states of the EU. Thus, in January 2017, the BCC became a founding member of a coalition of groups representing UK nationals living in those countries, which took the name British in Europe.

British in Europe has been extremely active in lobbying the UK Government, the European Parliament, the European Commission and the European Council, as well as parliamentarians, ministers and officials in the 27 EU member states. Its position has always been that the rights of UK citizens living in other EU member states must be maintained intact and indivisible. The organisation is currently trying to extend the period during which UK nationals abroad may return to live in the UK with non-UK family members without having to meet stringent minimum income conditions, but is also active in many other areas of concern to UK nationals in France.

The British in Europe website britishineurope.org provides regularly updated information about the coalition's lobbying work, appearances before parliamentary committees both in the UK and in non-UK member states (including France), and its publications and research. British in Europe is registered as a loi 1901 association in France, and works closely with the3million, the organisation set up in the UK in the aftermath of the 2016 referendum to defend the rights and interests of nationals of the 27 EU member states who live in the UK.

Applying for French nationality

You may hold French nationality in addition to British nationality. In most cases a minimum of five years' legal and law-abiding residence in France is required for naturalisation par décret.

An application for naturalisation par décret for most foreigners (not those with a French spouse and/or French children, where the procedure is different) requires form CERFA n°12753*02 and a demanding list of further documents, to be provided within six months, including originals of all family birth and marriage certificates (not forgetting those of parents!), and their translations by a sworn translator.

The form asks for details of all relatives and children as well as the applicant, all work positions held, and all places of residence in France and abroad... since birth! Applicants' ability to speak French may be tested. Applications should be made to the préfecture. The cost is 55 euros.

See service-public.fr/particuliers/vosdroits/F15832 where detailed information (in French) is available.

Travelling between the UK and France with your pet after Brexit

Pet passports issued in Great Britain before 31st December 2020 are no longer valid for travel to the EU or Northern Ireland since 1st January 2021. If you enter the UK, or an EU member state from the UK, with an animal and do not have the correct documents, your pet may be put into quarantine or sent back to the country it travelled from, at your expense. More detailed information is available at gov.uk/guidance/pet-travel-to-europe-from-1-january-2021 and the Pet Travel Scheme pages for France, pettravel.com/immigration/France.cfm. ### Registering to vote in the UK

The BCC and British in Europe have long campaigned for abolition of the 15-year rule which prevents UK citizens from voting in the UK after 15 years' residence abroad. It is hoped that the Election Bill introduced into Parliament in July 2021 will remedy that situation. Meanwhile the present situation is that British Citizens in France who have been registered to vote as residents in the UK at any time within the past 15 years can register as overseas voters at gov.uk/register-to-vote. Those who were too young to register when they left the UK must have a parent or guardian who has been registered. Registered overseas voters are eligible to vote in elections for the UK General Elections and European Parliamentary elections, but not local government elections or elections for the devolved assemblies. Once you are registered, you can choose to vote in person at your local polling station if you are in the UK on Election Day. Otherwise, you can apply in advance to vote by post or by proxy. You can register for this on line for constituencies in England, Scotland or Wales by going to the government website gov.uk/register-to-vote (you will need your National Insurance number and passport details). For more information about registering to vote in any part of the UK, see the Electoral Commission website www.electoralcommission.org.uk/i-am-a/voter. It is advisable to re-register annually.
